Visitors to Be Allowed on Tacoma Until 5 Today

PROGRAM TODAY

Visitors permitted on board this afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock.

Inspection tour of Gulf and Texas refineries for Tacoma officers this morning.

Vessel put to sea Sunday morning at 7 o'clock, bound for Panama.

Port Arthur opened the door of hospitality yesterday afternoon and last night, and thousands of feet and in cars visited the U. S. S. Tacoma, the first modern United States cruiser to round Cape Horn. With her big guns and brasswork shining and her men in spotless bines, lies at the K. C. S. cotton docks.

From 8 o'clock until 11 last night Port Arthur, in one long stream of humanity, motored and rode to visit Uncle Sam's battle boat.

Docked at the cotton wharves at 11 o'clock yesterday morning, the Tacoma, commanded by Captain H. G. Sparrow, and his crew was met yesterday afternoon by a reception committee headed by Chamber of Commerce Secretary Art L. Burge, Mayor Bill Maxwell, Hollis L. Drake and others, who went aboard shortly after the noon hour, and were received in the captain's cabin.

Long before visiting hours had been formally inaugurated, several hundred swarmed to the docks to get their first glimpse of the Tacoma.

Last night Port Arthur elapsed the hands of bonny sailor boys and dignified officers, and the festivities of greeting lasted to a late hour with dancing at the ship and the Country Club.

The Tacoma is a light cruiser, built in San Francisco, is first commissioned in 1904. It is 208 feet long with a displacement of 3500 tons and a draft of 15 feet, carrying eight 5.1 inch guns and eight six-pounders.

It was designed to be used for patrol duty, protecting American interests in foreign waters, and during most of the ship's career, the Tacoma has served in the Caribbean sea and along the Pacific coast of Central America.

During the earlier part of the world war, the Tacoma acted as escort to convoys of merchantmen and transiting in the North Atlantic. Later in the war, the vessel was one of a squadron of four cruisers which were based on Brazil and used as an anti-sub patrol in South Atlantic waters to protect supplies shipped from South America to Europe for use among the allies.

After the war, the Tacoma returned to patrol duty in Central America, and is now a member of the special service squadron based in Panama.

The crew numbers 350 men, which includes a guard of 36 marines for landing purposes. The complement of officers is 15, and her home port is Boston.

THIRD TIME PROVES CHARM IN COURTS

Bill didn't stay, but paid $18.05, his fine and was released.

EUROPE'S PEACE NEARS RUPTURE

Conference Postponed to Defer Entente Split BREACH WIDENS

England and France, Deadlock on German Policy

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Today's meeting of the council of ambassadors has been postponed, thus deferring the expected split between Britain and France.

It was anticipated that the council would meet today and that British and French view points would be so divergent that the session would break up. Cancellation of the meeting averts this.

Next Move Up to Britain.

It is surmised that the British and French ambassadors' views on what shall be done with the former crown prince and control of German armaments are irreconcilable.

Premier Poincare's strong speech in the chamber on Friday, wherein he expressed the hope of maintaining the entente but refused to change the French policy in any degree, has left the next move up to Britain.

Poincare, loudly cheered by the deputies at frequent intervals, both accused the British representatives in the ambassadors' council of supporting the Germans against the French on some issues.

If the British stand pat the entente is as good as ended right now, it is believed here. Even without any open and spectacular split in meeting of the ambassadors' council, cooperation between the two great allies will be done with.

Poincare struck out in all directions. He denounced the plan for an expert examination of Germany's capacity to pay, recently put forward by Secretary of State Hughes, as a trick to force a reduction in reparations engineered by foreign bankers.

America and Britain, he said, need not expect payment of inter-allied debts until Germany's reparations are paid.

Slayer of 4 Captured

Vice-President's Wife?

Mrs. Royal S. Copeland, wife of the senator from New York, in an approved studio portrait. Her husband is being mentioned as a possible running mate for William G. McAdoo, should the latter obtain the Democratic nomination in the next presidential election.

Leonard Portano, mad lover of 15-year-old Myrtle Sanders, who shot and killed four persons including the girl's parents in a campaign of terror Thursday, was locked up in the local jail today.

Portano was captured in the North Woods last night by a posse under Sheriff Arthur Johnson. Portano surrendered without offering resistance although he was still heavily armed.

Barely Escapes Lynching.

The mail Italian ran amuck in a quarrel with another of Myrtle's suitors. Forcing the girl to accompany him on his mission of death, he hurried from place to place, murdering the rival suitor, the girl's parents and a marshal who came to arrest him. He escaped into the woods and was searched 36 hours before finding him.

Portano barely escaped violence at the hands of the men who searched for him all day yesterday.

When word reached Kelliker that Portano had been captured by the sheriff a group of heavily armed citizens felled a telephone pole across the road into town and awaited the sheriff's car. They were ready to mete out brief justice to the killer.

Farmer Calls Sheriff.

Sheriff Johnson, driving the car while two of his deputies guarded Portano, saw the telephone pole, in time and detoured. Several shots were fired after the speeding captive car but none took effect. Sheriff Johnson sped on to Bemidji and placed his man in jail at midnight.

Portano was captured in a barn where a farmer to whom he applied for shelter advised him to go. The farmer called the sheriff and his men took the slayer without a fight.

Police Force Called Out on 'War Footing'

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The entire police force of the Metropolitan went on a "war footing" today in the battle to suppress a rising crime wave.

Police Commissioner Egan said before departing on a vacation trip to Bermuda, issued an order requiring that all police in the city remain on duty 16 hours a day, leaving only eight hours for sleep.

The order is a result of a series of bold robberies, beginning with the murder of three bank managers in a $12,000 Brooklyn holdup.

The latest outrage was a raid upon a Fifth avenue fur store which netted the bandits $40,000 in furs stolen after the front store window of the establishment had been smashed with a garbage can.

Bonding and theft insurance companies are in an uproar and have issued statements advising care in the transportation of money and protection of property.

Love Teacher? Then Say It With Your Own Flowers, Logan Warns

Port Arthur school children who love their teachers, and are saying it with flowers, stand in danger of being nabbed by the police.

This is the word going out from Mayor J. P. Logan, with the explanation that complaints of school children going into other folks' yards, even up on front porches, and gathering flowers, are pouring in upon him from all sections of the city.

A letter asking school authorities to take a hand to stop the phenomenon of flower gathering was sent George M. Sims, superintendent of the city schools, by Mayor Logan Friday, in which it is stated that if the school officials are unable to stop the raids on flower beds, the police will have to step in.

SENATORIAL R. CAUSED BY ACT

Suspended Daylong Session For First Time

EXECUTIVE ABATED

After Commotion, Trial Proceeds Without Him

By United Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 17.—"I reached the conclusion that I cannot have a fair trial in this court. I hereby withdraw."

Governor J. C. Walton announced the senate court of impeachment today by rising from the midst of his assembly at the center table and making this statement.

Klan Testimony Barred

The governor's statement came immediately after testimony regarding the Ku Klux Klan offered by the executive counsel had been barred by the court.

Before the trial could proceed, Walton, pale of face and in a voice that was not entirely steady, rose slowly to his feet and began to speak.

It was the first time he has personally been heard.

"I have been sitting here fighting for my honor and my life for two days," he said.

"I don't wish to criticize any of the honorable members of the court, but I reached the conclusion that I cannot have a fair trial in this court."

Trial Proceeds

"Therefore, for my own sake and for the sake of my wife and children upon whom the stain of this unfair trial will reflect, I hereby withdraw from this court."

"You may proceed as you see fit," the governor's action took the court by surprise and great commotion ensued for a time, after which the trial proceeded without him.

Shortly after Walton withdrew the senate court was thrown into an uproar by the attempt of Senator Anglin, president pro tem of the senate, to attack Attorney Sprague, one of Walton's counsel.

Anglin was held off by half a dozen senators and the court took a recess for 20 minutes.

Hunk Fencil

Senator Anglin had stated that he understood that all subpoenas for witnesses for the governor had been withdrawn.

Sprague, who was leaving the room, said he didn't believe any such statement had been made.

Anglin screamed about being called a "liar," and hurled a pencil at Sprague, then attempted to crawl over the desk toward him.

The disturbance finally was quieted down.

BUILD BETTER BUILDINGS

Half Month Building Is Past The $100,000 Mark

Building permits for Port Arthur during the first half of November swept past the $100,000 mark and stood at $100,000 at the close of business Friday afternoon, records in the office of Building Inspector Dushy show.

OUTLOOK GOOD, SCHMINK SAYS

Office Supply Concerns Business Increases

According to S. E. Schmink of the Schmink Office Supply company, located at 631 Procter street, the business outlook for the coming year is very encouraging. The company's business has been the best this year since organization four years ago and shows fully fifty per cent increase over that of 1922.

The company is exclusive agents in Port Arthur for Art Metal Construction company products, the world's largest manufacturers of steel framing equipment, and also for the A. H. Dier company, makers of the masonograph.

"In a sales contest by the Art Metal company, covering the months of August and September," says Schmink, "I landed the fourth prize of $25.00 for the largest sales from cities of our class. A Dallas sales man won a prize in his class and we were the only two Texas men to 'get among the winners.'"

The company has a large stock of Christmas greeting cards and has been commended for the completeness of their stock in previous years.

HOUSE MOVER IS OPTIMISTIC

Mizell Makes Specialty of Difficult Jobs

One of Port Arthur's oldest contractors, in the business of moving and raising houses is O. C. Mizell, located at 2007 Houston street. Having been in the business for a number of years, Mizell is capable of handling the most particular jobs in his line of work, taking full responsibility for all damages.

According to Mizell, the business outlook for him is very good and the coming year will bring plenty of business to all his efforts.

Since the first of the month an unusually large number of permits for residences have been issued, the count showing 43 of the total 115 issued being for residences. These new homes vary in values from $1,000 up to $5,000, the average recorded being slightly above the average, it is said.

Of the 72 building permits taken out since November 1 for miscellaneous construction work, garage building figures largely, the records show. A number of the permits are for renovations and repairs and similar construction work. Taking the building permits thus far for November as their basis, Port Arthur builders predict that the total for the month will be well over the 200,000 mark.

SEE BIG YEAR FOR BUILDING

Livesay and Wiedemann Have Active Season

The firm of Livesay and Wiedemann, architects, who have offices in the San Jacinto Life building, Beaumont, are making preparations for taking care of the many new building lines that will be built next spring and the early part of next year. According to these men 1923 will be the biggest building year for Port Arthur and Beaumont seen for some time. The firm specializes in the drawing of plans, specifications and superintending construction of homes and business buildings.

Some of the recent completions of the firm are the A. T. Eddington apartments in Port Arthur, the 800,000 residence of W. D. Gordon of Beaumont, Koolman store and apartments and Dr. Hazlip stores at Nederland. The firm has also just completed the Bama State Bank and a large residence for K. Kish at Terrell.

The firm has a very attractive Home Building Plan that enables the builder to save money.

A local office is planned by the firm for the very near future.

ANCIENT CRAFT

Plumbing Trade One of Oldest in World

The plumber derives his name from the old Latin word "plumbum," or "plumbum," meaning lead. His actual title in ancient days was "plumbarius plumbarius," meaning a worker in lead, says an official of the Master Plumber association.

Ancient plumbers made lead pipe for water supply to buildings, provided sheet lead for roof covering, and set window panes in lead. They were also skilled in the mending of lead pipes for sewerage.

Today, the plumber works not only in lead, but also in zinc, brass, bronze, and other metals. Plumber and other city products are commonly used in his work. The plumber is still the skilled artisan who protects health. The only difference is that he has more knowledge and more materials to work with.

Physicians have accomplished wonderful things by practicing with "preventative medicine." The plumber has done wonders in preventing the start of disease. The doctors preach disease prevention by insisting upon healthy surroundings, clean water supply, and sanitary measures, but it remains for the science and skill of the plumber to provide these conditions.

To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a tremble feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. Every Loyal Yellow Jacket Fan Should Occupy a Vantage Point At Game Today With

Battle Cry, "Beat Galveston" Sounds As Gridsters Line Up

Contest Today May Be Final For Port Arthur This Month

Huge Band and Entire Student Body To Be Used To Cheer Locals On; Ball High Rated As Strong Squad

By BILL ARCHER
BEATEN only once this season, and that by an over-touted team, Ball High of Galveston invades Franklin field this afternoon matched against a renovated Yellow Jacket crew of gridsters.

The game is called for 3 o'clock. The clash with Galveston this afternoon is probably the last local fadom will witness in Port Arthur until after Thanksgiving Day. And perhaps then, there may be only one more game for Port Arthur High—in Beaumont.

Consequently, officials of the school who have helped to arrange the mix-up with the Galveston boys on local territory today feel confident that a large delegation of fans—perhaps the best crowd of the season, in view of the pleasant weather—will turn out to witness the classic.

Galveston dropped a game last weekend to Houston Heights, 9-7, in a game that was considerably like that played here, in which the Heights boys won from Port Arthur, Houston got all the breaks in Galveston, and Ball High got booted out of the running.

Houston Heights was not as good a contingent as Port Arthur, should never have won the game, and her win over Galveston spells nothing concerning the clash here this afternoon. Galveston is a formidable opponent, and will give the Port Arthur lads as tough a battle as has been put on display here during the season.

In fact, Galveston is likely to win. Coach Leo Smith has been busy the entire week reconstructing his grid machine. With the return of "Moby" Iglesias to the field in a Yellow Jacket uniform, the hopes of PAHS fandom went up several degrees; but it has not been stated at any time this week whether the speedy quarterback would take up his old duties in charge of the squad today, and at the last hour, it was only problematical.

But Coach Smith has discovered several unusual backfield men in his squad that he hadn't seen before. Among the lot of Prejean, who executed wonders against the slower orange delegation, and who will probably be given the right to start from scratch this afternoon.

Several other backfield positions are said to have been shifted during the week, and Coach Smith plans to spring a complete surprise today with the changes. Just what they will aggregate against the flashing field work of the visitors remains to be seen.

Trow and Crow will probably occupy the wing positions, while Walker will be back at his post at center. Nick Hyde and Bourge may again take tackle posts, and W. Butard may be on the backfield line, other than these positions, the Yellow Jacket contingent this afternoon is a matter of conjecture, with Coach Smith holding a big bag of surprises that will be turned out at the moment.

High school boosters and fans have planned the biggest celebration of the year. Director Culpepper of the cheering sections has been busy all week trying to line up 100 musicians to play during the clash, while the students body will probably turn out as one. Every seat is expected to be filled with ardent Yellow Jacket fans, and Culpepper is urging that "everybody attend and root for PAHS boys to win." Every musician who appears at the game this afternoon will have an instrument with which to be admitted free to the playing stand.

MICHIGAN HAS TOUGH CONTEST

Wolverines, Badgers Tie Up in Grid Classic

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Michigan University has a tough job on hand today, for, if Wisconsin can muster strength enough to turn back the invading Wolverines, at Madison, Michigan will be down and out as far as the "Big Ten" football championship for 1933 is concerned. The game is the middle week's feature attraction of the day.

Two things have raised the stock of the Badgers' considerably, despite their defeat at the hands of Illinois last week. The first of these is the difficulty that Coach Yost has found in finding a quarterback to replace Uteritz, injured last week. Back to all will attempt to carry the role. But the crafty Michigan backfield is apt to be lost without the brilliant leadership of Uteritz. The other consists of a series of mysterious reports radiating from Madison to the effect that Coach Ryan has a surprise package that he is going to open Saturday for the entertainment of the visitors from Ann Arbor, part of this surprise, it is believed, consisting of two complete sets of backs, which will take turns on the field.

Turf Fans Buzzing Over Hour of Race Between Zev And Kentucky Pony Today

CHURCHILL DOWNS, LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 17.—Zev, with Sande up, the combination of horse and man that won most of the classic races of the year-old division during the summer and defeated the great Papyrus, champion of the British turf, in October, will try to win back lost honors this afternoon from In Memoriam, the Kentucky horse, ridden by little Mack Garner.

In Memoriam won from Zev by four lengths in the Latonia championship two weeks ago in Zev's own favorite footing—mud. Garner rode the home-bred horse that time, and received a $10,000 check for winning.

To check In Memoriam is a matter of sentiment first, business afterward, among Kentucky horsemen. They were a little cautious, however, when the $30,000 match race was first arranged. Much could happen to either horse in a few hours. But Friday they took courage from the fact that Zev has run a hard campaign this year and from the further fact that he has done much traveling in the horse cars since his defeat at Latonia.

Both horses ran a half mile Friday. The time was the same for both—48 1-5 seconds. Garner had the saddle on In Memoriam and Sande was up on Zev.

Old-timers go back to the days a 70 when Molly McCarthy and Ten Brooks ran in a match race to compare the enthusiasm now prevailing among the crowds of natives and visitors over a run between two horses.

Zev will not be neglected here, for it was on this same course that he won the Kentucky Derby last May, and many of those who will be at the track saw him beat the pick of his class that day.

The distance for the race will be one mile and one-quarter, with 125 pounds up.

MICHIGAN HALF BIG TIME STAR

Herbert Steger Is All-American Timber

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 17.—In Herbert Steger, sensational University of Michigan halfback, followers of the maize and blue football eleven see another candidate for All-American honors.

Steger, today, ranks as one of the best gridlers Yost has had in seasons. Captain Harry Kipke not excepted. Fleet of foot, a good forward passer, splendid punter, and an expert field goal kicker, the former Oak Park lad is a triple threat artist to boot. There is no getting away from that. He also is as good a bit as the Wolverines boast on the receiving end of a pass, having the uncanny ability to grab "out of the air" on almost impossible chance.

This is Steger's second year on the Yost machine.

YALE DOPED TO DEFEAT TIGERS

Teams Met First Time Fifty Years Ago

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17.—Fifty years ago almost to the day, Yale and Princeton met here in their first football game.

Before a crowd of one hundred Princeton won 3 to 0.

Time was called only once—when the ball exploded.

More than a dozen survivors of those two ancient teams will be among the 80,000 in the bowl this afternoon to see the teams battle in their forty-seventh game.

Yale is expected to win about 30 to 0.

With more confidence and enthusiasm than Yale has known in years, the undergraduates and the old graduates offering 3-to-1 this morning on Yale, Princeton takers were as secure as the tickets.

Even with extreme precautions taken in disposing of the tickets, none of which was offered to the public, a few fell into the hands of speculators. The scalpers were asking $30 and $40 for seats that were none too close at the ends of the gridiron. Their market was poor as word went around that they were counterfeits.

Streets swarmed this morning with early arrivals. The roads leading into town were choked with traffic. Motor troops of the state police were speeding up and down the highways giving the usual commands "step on 'er, keep going." Provisions were made to provide parking space for 20,000 machines which were expected to bring a part of the 80,000 that are sure to see the game.

Colorless Task

Unspiring is a rather colorless expression. Tim Hurst, Silk O'Loughlin, Bill Byron and Bill Guthrie were a few of the unusual characters who have held the honor. Hurst and O'Loughlin have passed away, while Byron and Guthrie are back in the minors.

Tim Hurst was the master at repairing. Silk O'Loughlin was the autocrat of the diamond, no one dared doubt his statement that he never missed one in his life. Bill Byron was the singing arbitrator. When the athletes poured tales of woe into Byron's ear he gave no heed, but sang to them little ditties intended to ally their injured feelings, but which usually stirred them up all the more.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS By Olive Roberts Barton

"Speak a little louder, please. I'm very hard of hearing."

Away down in Dixie Land, the sharp nose, "They seem to think I have no right whatever to eat them. Why, if all the lizards and mice and bugs in the community felt that way I would never have a meal at all so I wouldn't, and deny only knows if I don't watch my Q's and P's, I'd be gobbled up myself one of these days because, much as I hate to say it, there are plenty of people waiting around to make a lunch of me."

"What do you suppose it can be?" whispered Nancy, touching it with her toe.

But careful as she was, the object poked a scaly head out from under its hard shell and said sharply out of its sharp nose, "Speak a little louder, please. I'm very hard of hearing."

"Don't you believe it!" called a tiny voice, and there, not far away, the Twins saw a little black ant with a red head, standing beside the door of a perfectly enormous ant hill. "He isn't hard of hearing at all! He's got ears that can hear when anyone sneezes in China. We ants ought to know, for he hears us every time we turn over in bed even, so he does, and we have an awful time trying to stay alive, because he eats ants."

Nancy put her hands over her ears. "Oh, stop stop," she cried. "You talk so much and so fast, little ant, I can't keep up with you."

Without another word the little red-headed ant disappeared.

"I'm glad you put that away out of his place," said Mister Honey-Suckle War-Tank sharply again out of his.

"Yes!" cried the Twins quickly. And they hopped right on.

Along they went, along and along, and along their streets clattering like a photograph every step of the way, when suddenly the Twins were dumped off on the ground, kerbump! And Mister Armadillo disappeared like a cat in a slot machine.

"Where are you? Oh, Mister Armadillo, where did you go?" called Nick.

"Sh! I'm down this hole! I'm minding my Q's and P's as I told you. I heard someone coming. Don't wait for me, please."

"Now you know how the ant feels," called Nancy. "Come along, Nick."

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE By Uncle Ray

CHAPTER 36
Invention of the Bow and Arrow.

A Stone Age hunter crept quietly toward two reindeer grazing a short distance from the clump of bushes in which he had been hiding. Knowing that the deer would flee at the slightest sound, he took pains not to keep on anything which might make a noise. He held his stone-pointed spear in his right hand.

Just as he was about to let go, the two deer (which had either heard or smelled him) suddenly tossed up their heads and began scampering away.

The hunter hurled his spear, using all the power of his muscular shoulders. It whizzed through the air with terrific speed, flying true toward its mark; but the deer had started in the nick of time. The shaft fell so that it just grazed the heels of the hindmost animal.

Once more this hunter had failed! He did not lack strength or skill. He was as good a man with the spear as anyone in the tribe. The trouble lay with the weapon. It could not be thrown far enough for the hunter to be confident of slaying a deer or a bison or a wild horse. At times he was able to kill these animals, but more often he failed.

Something had to be done. Men needed and wanted a better weapon than the spear.

Such a weapon was invented. It was the bow and arrow.

You will be surprised to hear how long it took men to invent this weapon. It appears that the bow and arrow was not used until more than 100,000 years after the invention of the stone-pointed spear!

Therefore you can see how unlikely it is that any one man got the whole idea of shooting an arrow by the aid of a bow. The invention must have been the result of the thinking of many brains at many times.

The first use of the bow and arrow was one of the greatest steps man ever took to improve his weapons. It meant that hunters were now able to kill the fleeing deer or bison or wild horse without a great deal of trouble. It spelt death to thousands upon thousands of these animals. For man meant a much greater mastery over wild beasts.

Next—Little Stones of Mystery.

These sketches were found on the walls of caves. They show how an arrow used during the latter part of the Stone Age.

WOMAN IS GIVEN $17,000 DAMAGE

TYLER, Texas, Nov. 17.—After three days deliberations which closed a six-day trial, Mrs. Beulah Bounds was awarded $17,000 damages against the St. Louis Southwestern Railway company in the district court here in a suit against the railway company for the death of her husband who was killed at Athens, 18 months ago while endeavoring to perfect a new invention.

The invention was a device for the trial of this case in the Smith county district court, the first trial resulting in a reversal of the appellate court and the second trial resulting in hung jury.
